9 Denman Drive Bundamba QLD

4 2 2

This stunning four built-in bedroom family home is the complete package for both home owners and investors. Not only is it just five (5) years old still with great depreciation but more importantly it represents exceptional value for money!

This home is feature packed and has two (2) separate large and air-conditioned living areas not just one. This means you have room to spread out and your family can just move in, unpack and relax. Alternatively, for the investors, there is no upgrades required as the current owners have consistently maintained the home and it is in great condition. Up until recently this home was returning $350 per week and is now vacant so you get to choose your own tenants from day one!

From the moment you approach this home you can't help
